

THE BEDFORD CITIZEN

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

JUNE 22, 2016

A big thank you to Congressman Moulton

As many of us know, the Congress has been gridlocked for the past several years, unable to move forward of major issues. Congressman Moulton should receive high praise for recently joining the bipartisan Climate Solutions Caucus. This is the first bipartisan task force to deal with climate change in the U.S. House of Representatives. His statement on the step warrants quotation:

“I came to Congress hoping to find bipartisan solutions to address some of the big challenges we face as a country. One of the most pressing issues that we have to tackle as a generation—and a planet—is climate change. We need to seek out areas for common ground to protect our environment for generations to come, and the bipartisan Climate Solutions Caucus is doing just that. As a member who represents coastal communities that are particularly sensitive to warming temperatures, I see both the environmental and economic effects of climate change on a regular basis. I am excited to join a group that is committed to working on this issue in a bipartisan way – it’s the only way we are going to make real progress.”

Cooperation and informed discussion. Way to go, Congressman Moulton.
