

Jerry Wolf

Jerry Wolf is The Bedford Citizen's "man with the spreadsheets". As treasurer, Jerry keeps tabs on The Citizen's Finances; he was also responsible for navigating the IRS processes for obtaining 501(c)(3) status for the organization. (This designation exempts your donations from taxes as permitted by law.) Jerry has lived in Bedford for more than 40 years with his wife, Lynne. Together they raised two children here; his daughter, Becky Ricci, and her family also live in Bedford. A son, David, lives in northern Virginia.

Jerry has a long history of service to various town organizations including the Citizen Scholarship Foundation, POMS, the Bedford Farmer's Market, youth soccer program, the Ad Hoc Recycling Committee, and served as treasurer of the Friends of the Library.

Asked his views on the importance of The Bedford Citizen, Jerry said, "I think The Citizen brings us together as a community. I want to be informed on what's going on in town government and town organizations, and The Citizen provides that."

Jerry has been a board member and treasurer since 2012. He is also a member of the Executive Committee which oversees the daily operation of The Citizen.

Currently retired, Jerry worked at BBN for many years as an R&D engineer, working in speech and signal processing. He came to the Boston area to do graduate work at MIT where he earned a Ph.D. in electrical engineering.
